

The recent decision by Sinclair Broadcasting to broadcast the one-sided depiction of Senator Kerry's past has compelled me to register a complaint against this type of media-sponsored electioneering. While the vast majority of Americans have become accustomed to negative campaigning, this particular decision by Sinclair Broadcasting has crossed the line of legality.

While I support free speech and the opinions of others, this particular message at this time, under these circumstances, is clearly intended to persuade public opinion.

I believe the credibility of the FCC and our systems of regulation and law are clearly in jeopardy.

I respectfully request that you take immediate action to return a sense of lawfulness and decency to our electoral process. Sincerely, Thomas Lewis
